

Move On has reported that Congress hears very little from constituents concerning the problem[s] of a few corporations controlling our air waves. I am one who objects strenuously to the control of public airwaves by anyone other than our conscientious, elected representatives. Actually, I would think you would be just as interested in making sure that alternative voices will continue to be heard.